Alfa Wassermann Diagnostic Technologies Becomes New Supplier to Medline

Global medical products distributor to provide in-office medical diagnostic instrumentation and reagents to physician office laboratories and world-class customer service and support

WEST CALDWELL, N.J. – Sept. 15, 2015 – Alfa Wassermann Diagnostic Technologies, LLC (AWDT), a leading provider of in-office clinical chemistry systems and reagents, recently announced its new partnership with Medline. As part of the new collaboration, Medline, the global manufacturer and distributor of medical supplies and clinical solutions, will distribute Alfa Wassermann’s products to physician office labs (POL).

“We are thrilled to announce our partnership with Medline and bring the ACE Axcel to their customer base,” said Peter Napoli, President of Alfa Wassermann Diagnostic Technologies, LLC. “Medline truly understands today’s customer needs and has a rich history of succeeding in the medical supplies business with high quality products for nearly 50 years.”

The ACE Axcel®, AWDT’s next-generation clinical chemistry system for the POL market, offers the latest advances with touch screen functionality, an intuitive user interface, and Internet connectivity. The ACE Axcel is a self-contained system in a small footprint, never needing a dedicated waste disposal or water system. In addition to offering advanced instrumentation and reagents, Alfa Wassermann provides customers with over a decade of award-winning customer service.

With Medline’s more than 1,200 sales representatives serving customers across the continuum of care worldwide, the partnership will help Alfa Wassermann expand its in-office diagnostic instruments and reagents in the POL market.
